Cat Odor Eliminator

I have two cats and there is NOTHING worse than the smell of their pee! This recipe couldn't be easier. Mix hydrogen peroxide, baking soda, and a little bit of liquid soap together. Brush it on wherever your gato has left his mark.

Bathbub Scrub

Make your own bathtub cleanser using baking soda, laundry washing soda, and Castile soap. The finished product works like magic and removes the worst soap scum. Add some lemon, tea tree, or peppermint essential oils to make it smell wonderful.

Dusting can be fun with these polishing pads. Dip microfiber cloths in a mixture of white vinegar, olive oil, and lemon essential oils, ring out, and place in a jar with lemon peel and rosemary. Your pocket and wood furniture will thank you.

I use this cleanser for everything from my kitchen to my desktop. Mix white vinegar, Borax, hydrogen peroxide, and lemon juice together. Add your favorite essential oils for a great scent!

Forget the Windex and make your own streak-free cleaning agent. Just use ¼ c. alcohol, ¼ c. white vinegar, 1 tbsp. cornstarch, and 2 c. warm water. Ta-da!
